The issue, however, was expected to narrow down to the program temporary unemployment relief loans to the states as proposed by President Eisenhower, and the sweeping program of federal grants proposed by the Democrats. Both proposals would be temporary, expiring next year.

The House Rules Committee, in learing the measure for floor debate, gave the House an opportunity, to start voting Thursday on a variety of alternatives including the administration plan.

Under present law, jobless benefits are financed out of employer payroll taxes which go into a trust und until needed. Terms and conditions governing payments vary from state to state, as do amounts and the period of coverage.

increase in outdoor work has brought a surge in employment and a slight drop in joblessness - but no letup in demands for government anti-recession action.

Releasing its figures 10 days earlier than usual, the Commerce Department said unemployment dropped 78,000 during April - the first decline since last October but far short of the normal 300,000 to 350,000 decline from March to

The report was issued as the House prepared to debate a bill for extension of jobless benefits. Along with the April jobless total of 5,120,000, the department reported an increase of 596,000 in employment to a new total of 62,907,000 persons working. Secretary of Commerce Weeks said nearly all the gain in employment resulted from the usual spring pickup in agriculture and On Train Service other outdoor activities.

A Suspicion Confirmed

Well, now it's out. A lot of us have suspected it for a long time, but now we know for sure. We can be allergic to ourselves.

A professor of pathology at the University of Pennsylvania's Graduate School of Medicine, Dr Max Strumia, says part of the human body can act as though other parts were actually foreign to it.

The medical fellows may be just getting around to establishing this as a scientifically provable fact.

But who hasn't had the hunch?

These are those days when your head feels like a foreigner and you'd be happy to deny it a passport. Or those times when you've gone without sleep and your legs feel like logs. Who wants 'em?

But those are the extreme occasions. Most any morning you care to name, most of us drag ourselves to the breakfast table feeling like a battlefield laid waste by warring allergies.

It isn't until around 10 o'clock that we decide maybe some kind of internal armistice has been declared and we can stagger through until the next round of combat begins.

There's got to be a reaction one of these days.

Contrasts In Caudle Prosecution

WASHINGTON - At the close of the year 1957, the Justice Department issued a press release boasting of its record for prosecuting income tax fraud under Eisenhower. The record, which compared Eisenhower prosecutions with previous years, omitted one extremely interest-

The year 1949, when the Justice Department had a higher record for tax prosecution than any under Eisenhower. The Assistant Attorney General in charge of tax prosecution was T. Lamar Caudle, whom the Eisenhower administration has now prosecuted with a dogged ruthlessness which gives the Caudle case all the aspects of another Dreyfuss case. Caudle convicted 849 persons in '49, the Eisenhower administration 581 in 1957.

This reporter happens to know something about the Caudle case. For in 1949-50, this column published a series of tax fraud exposes which led to two congressional investigations. T. Lamar Caudle, a small-town North Carolina lawyer, did a good job of prosecuting these cases. He was a little slow at first, was subjected to all sorts of political pressure, and was eventually fired by Truman after HST found that Caudle was friendly to the man

One case which Caudle prosecuted, and for which he in turn is now being prosecuted, was that of Irving Sachs, operator of "Shoe-Styles" in St. Louis, Caudle prosecuted, secured a guilty

Subsequently, however, Caudle has been relentlessly prosecuted to the point of persecution by Eisenhower's Justice Department because he did not send Sachs to jail and because he received two phone calls from the White House from Truman's secretary, Matt Connelly, one in September, 1949, suggesting a postponement because Sachs' attorney, Harry Schwimmer, had a heart attack; the other on Oct. 26, 1949, reporting that Schwimmer was in Washington and would like to see Caudle.

dle, has admitted he received no monetary reward in the Sachs case. He was prosecuted for "Depriving the United States of his best services.

The chief charge against Cauldle really boils down to the fact that he was tenderhearted regarding a defendant who was an epileptic and might not be able to stand the rigors of a trial. However, it was U. S. District Judge Roy Harper, not Caudle, who had the final decision. In fining Sachs rather than putting him on probation, Judge Harper said: "This is the most complicated medical problem of any case that I have ever had before me." Pointing to the fact that Sachs had been examined by fifteen or twenty doctors, he concluded that Sachs was "in a very serious condition. I made up my mind I would fine him and not put him on

The tiny gland known as the pituitary lies on the underside of the brain at the base of the skull. One of the hormones which is secreted from a portion of the pituitary body (or gland) acts on another important internal gland called the adrenal. There are two adrenal glands, which are also small and which lie close to the two kidneys.

How Republicans Can Win Control of House This Fall

By JOSEPH A. DEAR

Of Our Washington Bureau WASHINGTON - The Republican chairman, Meade Alcorn, who has conceded the Senate to the Democrats, predicts his party will win the House by a narrow margin this fall.

At first glance the concession and prediction seem irreconcilable. But Mr. Alcorn's claim of the House can be justified by the simplest sort of political arithmetic. And it would make sense if the pattern of politics since Ike's 1956 landslide is ignored.

The Democrats now hold 232 seats in the House, the Republi-There are five vacant seats. Three of these were held by Democrats, two by Republicans. The Republicans could capture the House by holding the 200 seats they now have and winning 18 more. At least 18 Democratic seats can fairly be described as shaky.

That's the arithmetical justification for Alcorn's prediction. But the GOP was unable to take the House in 1956 when Ike won by a stunning majority. Republicans stock appears to have dipped since. So it seems more likely that Republicans will be losing marginal districts to the Democrats, while the Democrats shore up their sha-

A quick check shows that there are at least 27 shaky Republican seats in various areas of the country. (Marginal districts are those in which the winning candidate had less than 55 per cent of the vote. These districts will swing if six voters in each hundred switch.) If the trend this fall is Democratic, the Republicans probably will lose a minimum of 27 seats.

But unless the Democrats score a major political breakthrough, a gain of more than 35 seats is imto show unemployment in April he doesn't think either Republi- probable. The reason: if the Dem-Associated Press News Analyst had dropped numerically below cans or Democrats are doing ocrats are to win more than 35 seats they will have to carry congressional districts in which the vote has been over 60 per cent Republican

If the Democrats do that, they will sweep the Senate. One illustration to clarify this point: In 1956 Mayor Robert Wagner, the Democratic senatorial candidate in What plagues both parties are New York, was defeated by over a million votes. That was a bad A tax cut now-if somehow the drubbing. But Wagner actually received 46.7 per cent of the vote Now only one Republican House seat in New York is marginal. But to pick up more than 35 seats in the House, the Democrats will have to crack some non-marginal districts. (In New York, 20 congressional districts were over 60 per cent Republican.) If there is a shift of that size Wagner, who probably will run for the Senate again

Oddly enough the erosion of Republican power that has increased the Democratic holding in the House has occurred in congressional districts composed of small and medium towns that serve disaf fected farm areas. In Kansas, for example, every Republican seat is marginal.

The professionals at the Democratic National Committee are quick to point out that one reason so few Republican districts are marginal is because of the way the lines are drawn. And if the Democrats get a chance to draw the lines the way they want, there will be more swing districts. An illustration of what could be accomplished by redistricting, according to one Democratic professional, is offered by the Buffalo-Niagara Falls area in New York In the 40th, 41st, and 42nd congressional districts of New York, the Democrats garnered 35.7 per cent 35.6 per cent and 40.7 per cent of the vote in 1956. In short these districts are rock-like Republican. But through judicious redistricting, according to this pro, the Democrats could emerge with one safe seat. Another district would be marginal. And the third safe Republican.

Thinking

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Telephone booths are located along the highways, on street she had handed the chicken to the corners, in shops and in public buildings all over the nation. Anybased on faith in a human and mechanical system which has worked very satisfactorily. Even when a call does not go through the caller does not lose faith

There is a system of communications with God which has been in use more centuries than has the telephone system. God never gives His children a busy signal. He does not charge us by the minute. He never gets His signals

Of course, He does not always tell us what we want Him to say. He does not argue with us as do some of our friends. He is not selfish and He never loses His temper nor uses foul language.

We ought to have as much use for prayer and as much faith in this system as we have in the telephone. We need to learn to use the available prayer booths as readily as we use telephone

AM Reports Big Reversal To the Good

American Motors Corp. today reported a net profit of $7,329,631, or $1.31 per share, for the six months ended March 31. This compares with a net loss of $5,332,471 for the first half of the 1957 fiscal

George Rommey, president, announced that net sales for the period totaled $227,363,805, which was 20.2 per cent above the 1957 six-months total of $189,117,806.

Romney said the company has operated in the black in each of the six months since the fiscal year began Oct. 1, 1957.

"We anticipate profitable operations for the June quarter," he "Operating results in the final quarter (ending September 30) will be adversely affected by the annual shutdown for vacations, inventory and new model change-

Rambler cars continued to sell in greater volume than last year, Romney said, with March being the highest sales month in Rambler history, and April showing even greater gains. Romney stressed that AM's percentage of total U.S. car registrations is increasing steadily and currently in running at the highest level on record. The Rambler American, AM's new domestic entry into the smallcar field-and the only U. S. built small car-is rapidly gaining a special niche in the market, Romney reported. "Sales of the American have exceeded our expectations," he said. The Metropolitan, an 85 inch wheelbase small car built in England to AM specifications, currently is running 13.6 per cent ahead of last

Two successive increases in Rambler production this month have brought American Motors production to a level of 15,000 cars a month, Romney said. In addition, car dealers continue to seek the AM franchise, with 280 new dealers being signed during Januray, February and March

THE BIG IF If cancer had been conquered only a dozen years ago - nearly 2,500,000 Americans would not have died of cancer; more than 1,000,000 heads of families would not have died of cancer, and more than 35,000 children would not have died of cancer. The American Cancer Society is the only voluntary national health organization fighting cancer through research, education and service.
